Under the title “Smart, social, sustainable - Innovation for the Danube Region“, the forum will put a strong emphasis on topics such as innovation, professional training and dual education, entrepreneurship and civil society as key factors for a sustainable and integrative growth in the Danube Region.

The stakeholders of the EU Strategy for the Danube Region have been jointly working together for over four years. Therefore, a focus of this year’s Annual Forum will be to showcase best practices but also examine the more complex questions of project development and funding.

Several thematic sessions will give the participants of the conference the opportunity to take a closer look at the complex mechanisms that should be put together on a political, project and funding level in order to profit largely of the potential of a macro-regional strategy.

Additionally there will be many networking opportunities and interactive offers like workshops, panel discussions and an exhibition area.

The Minister-President of Baden-Württemberg, Winfried Kretschmann, will invite the participants to an evening reception on 29 October.

Further information as well as instructions for the registration will be sent in due time.

Looking forward to welcoming you to the Annual Forum 2015 in Ulm,
